Note for SQL Users

Please make sure that you use one database table creation script at a time.

If you need to run another database table creation script, first make sure that you delete all tables in your schema.

For example, to work the examples that appear in Chapter 9, Advanced SQL, you must first run the ADVSQLBINIT.SQL script. If you then want to work on the chapter problems 1 - 18, make sure you first delete all the tables already in your schema before running the Ch09_SimpleCo.SQL script. If you fail to do so, the scripts will not execute successfully and the data set may be incorrect.

If you run each SQL table creation script using a different User Id (schema) you will not have this problem.
